An interactive lighting system that robotically deforms its origami surface structure in response to the movement of people in the immediate environment. This 5 foot diameter lantern was displayed at UTS as part of the Smart light festival in Sydney, 2009.

Motors and cables deform the lantern shape based on movement sensor input from occupants in the environment.